Friendships welded on the east coast of Canada were renewed Tuesday night when approximately 300 members of the Maritime Provinces Association met at the Macdonald for the organization's annual banquet.

FOLLOWING THE TOAST—The King after the banquet Douglas Jones, president of the association for the past term, introduced the new president, J. V. Dods. Mr. Dods thanked members for his election and pledged himself to do his best for the organization.

More than 400 persons attended. A toast to the Maritimes was proposed by Sub-Ldr. J. A. Forbes, who stated that those provinces bordering on the Atlantic were small provinces with a large responsibility. He asked members to be faithful to the traditions of the Maritimes, not just for those provinces themselves, but for the sake of Canada.

Dr. W. C. Whitelie responded with a toast to Alberta and announced that the Maritimes Association was to approach the government with a view to saving pioneer relics of the Maritimes, not just for those provinces themselves, but for the sake of Canada.

THE NEW EXECUTIVE announced by Mr. Jones consisted of: J. V. Dods, Dr. R. Innes, Mrs. J. V. Dods, A. E. Allen, Mrs. D. Perry, Miss L. M. McNeill, Mrs. George Kilburn, Mrs. J. Kilburn, Mrs. H. W. Baten, Mrs. W. Trainor, J. H. Fulton, J. H. Brown, R. L. Sutherland, Mrs. J. Whitelie, E. E. Nobles, A. E. Knowler and I. P. Dickie.

Wires to the organization were received from J. Walter Jones, premier, Prince Edward Island; Angus Macdonald, premier, Nova Scotia; John B. McNair, premier, New Brunswick; A. J. McCormick, past president of the association now in Vancouver, and A. W. Milton, president of the Regina association.

Believed to be the oldest Maritimer attending was W. J. Joyce, 10032 81 street, now on his third year, Mr. Joyce left Halifax for the west 24 years ago.

FOLLOWING THE DINNER a dance and bridge were enjoyed under the chairmanship of W. Browning and Mrs. A. W. Macbeth respectively.

Entertainment during the evening was supplied by Ed. McGarvey, who led community singing; Jack Williams, bass; Jack Strachan, comedian; Norman Bristol, soprano; Jack Toulson and Miss Josephine Chamberlain in a piano and organ duet.

Bridge prizes were won by Mrs. W. M. Crockett and D. B. Lake.

Chinese Government Buys Canada Ships
OTTAWA, Feb. 27.—(CP)—War Assets Corporation last night announced that the Chinese government has purchased five Canadian Castle class corvettes, three of them on the east coast and two on the west coast, at a price of $50,000 each. The price will be reduced to $40,000 each, if the Chinese government is prepared to spend $50,000 on each corvette for conversion or alterations in Canadian shipsyards.

He suggested that when the old age pension cheques are mailed out a questionnaire should be sent to the pensioners to get their reaction to a proposal that $2.50 a month be deducted from their pension to look after all medical and hospital bills they might incur. It was at this point that he and

Mr. Williams had their first brief interchange.

E. O. Duke (SC, Pincher Creek-Crow's Nest) ridiculed the idea of $2,000,000 a day could be spent during the war to destroy life, but that the government could not find money to pay old age pensioners at least $30 a month.

SO CARRIED AWAY by his subject the southern representative who said that at one pause in his remarks he addressed the speaker as "Mr. Pensioner."

A. A. E. Lisenker (CCF, Calgary) brought forward an amendment to the resolution which requested that the provincial government should assume the cost of hospitalization for old age pensioners and mother's allowance recipients. As well as hospitalization his amendment asked for the payment of all medical interchange.

A similar resolution had been passed by the assembly a year previously, the CCF member said that the government had not acted on its terms.

"How can we go to Ottawa," he queried, "and ask for things when we have not carried out our own responsibilities?"

SINCE THE SUBJECT MATTER of Mr. Lisenker's resolution was to the same effect as an amendment to the resolution to accept the speech from the Throne, which had been submitted by the CCF group and rejected by the house, Mr. Speaker Dawson ruled that the amendment was out of order.

Mr. Williams suggested that, by reducing the percentage of the government's medical and hospital care to the old age pensioners, the government could find money to finance the medical and hospital care of the old timers. He branded as "silly" the suggestion that $2.50 should be deducted from pension cheques to look after these expenses.

A previous speaker had said that on the opposition side of the house were anxious to move to the government side, but Mr. Williams denied this and said that he doubted if any of the other opposition members had any such desire.

"DON'T LOOK AT ME," A. Davidson (Ind-Calgary) declared in a wave of laughter which swept the house.

The real answer to problems of old age pensioners is going to come from the Dominion-provincial conference, Arthur Wray, (SC-Banff-Cochrane) said.

"To pass a resolution like this is to throw it in the air with a hope and a prayer since the King does not know the answer either," Mr. Wray stated.

That there would have to be a tremendous increase in pressure from the public before the Dominion government in connection with old age pensions formed the main theme of a speech of Premier Ernest Manning when he gave an outline of the financial difficulties which would be involved should there be an increase in the share of the pensions paid by the province.

THE PROVISION of such a pension should be a national responsibility in any case, the premier said.

The present proposals of the federal government as advanced at the Dominion-provincial conference, that the Dominion assume responsibility for all old age pensions for persons over 70 and that the provinces and Dominion share their responsibilities in the age group from 65 to 70 was fraught with difficulties, he said.

These proposals are as close as the federal government has yet come to recognizing that the provision of these pensions was a national responsibility, he went on.

Stressing that it was only his impression he was giving, the premier said that he thought the Dominion government had no idea of going any farther at the present time than was outlined.

HE POINTED OUT that if the Dominion proposed to go through there is a possibility of some form of health benefits which would have the effect of removing from the anxiety of old age pensioners in regard to medical and hospital bills.

Elmer E. Roper (CCF-Edmonton) pleaded with the government to implement the medical care which had been included in the Millas Electric Company for their tender of $1,600.

There was a slightly delay in the reconstruction of specifications for heating, plumbing and ventilation work in both schools, and it is expected tenders on this work will be submitted at the next school board meeting.

CONSTRUCTION for this year will include the Delton elementary school with eight rooms; the North Edmonton elementary; Ritchie elementary with four rooms; Herbyford elementary with a four room addition; and the Victoria school with alterations to a frame building; Virginia Park elementary with four rooms, and the first unit of the Victoria high school.

Support for a five-day, 40-hour week with no reduction in pay for civic employees was voiced in a letter to the board from the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council. It also asked that this principle be incorporated in any contracts awarded by the school board.

The letter was referred to a later meeting for attention.

A request from the Allendale Home and School Association asked that the board supply immediately adequate technical training for house and plumbing and electrical work to the transfer of children from that district to make room for non-residents.

THE DIFFICULTY was acknowledged by the board and before the meeting was tabled Superintendent E. H. Sheppard expressed his hope that the board would be able to realize in the building program this summer.

The Jasper Place United Church was granted use of the Jasper Place school for the purpose of holding Sunday school classes.

The Edmonton Council for Adult Education was granted an extension of their present arrangement of using schools for their lectures.

The Educational Campaign Committee, headed by Mrs. E. S. Haynes, will hold a meeting in the gymnasium March 4 for the purpose of drawing up a brief requesting the provincial government to grant a greater amount of the cost of educational work.

Mr. H. H. Borden, who has announced a series of 15-minute addresses on educational topics, will commence March 1.

All to be "Adopted" Dutch Families Plan Care of Allied Graves

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 27.—(CP)—The grave of every Allied soldier who fell in Holland—among them several thousand Canadians—is to be adopted by a Dutch family and cared for as though it were that of a brother or son.

SUPERVISION of this new form of "adoption" is by the Netherlands war graves committee, headed by Herman Gorter, a banker of Amsterdam and Hilversum. The committee is ready to provide care for the 80,000 troops who died in the Netherlands, or whose bodies were brought from Germany for burial in Dutch soil.

Eighteen thousand graves in the American cemetery at Margate are expected to be allocated to families shortly. Other cemeteries affected are at Bergen-op-Zoom, Nijmegen and Groenningen.

Efforts are made to find out as much as possible about the fallen soldier. His grave then is cared for by a family with a background similar to his.

DUTCH FAMILIES accept the responsibility of visiting the graves regularly, seeing that fresh flowers are kept on them and co-operating in mass ceremonies of commemoration.

Photographs of each grave, the cemetery and important communities nearby are to be sent to the bereaved families.

Plans also are being made for the reception of relatives from Britain and North America when they come to visit the cemeteries.

The board welcomed Dr. A. G. Gemeny of the school dental staff, who has been absent through illness for several months. City Architect Maxwell Dewar was present at the meeting to advise on the school building plans submitted.

Considerable discussion took place on the problem of choice between gas or coal in the heating of smaller units, with no definite decision being reached before the meeting was adjourned.

DOVER, Eng.—(CP)—Dover town council has drawn up a 30-year plan for rebuilding 27 acres of Dover, which suffered heavy war damage. Agency houses along the sea front, battered by shelling, are to be pulled down and the buildings set back 180 feet.

THE MAINTENANCE department shaved expenditures of $71,137 since the beginning of the year. This compares with a 1945 report of $72,023.83 from the $130,519.66 appropriation for the year.

Security Plans Should Embrace All Who Need

CALGARY, Feb. 27.—(CP)—A social security scheme should not be limited to taking care of old age pensioners, Angus MacInnis, Vancouver MP, told a meeting of the Social Security Council yesterday afternoon.

"A SOCIAL SECURITY scheme should take care of every individual who is not able to take care of himself from the cradle to the grave," Mr. MacInnis said.

He said as well as taking care of old age pensioners, a social security scheme should make provisions for invalids, indigent persons, orphaned children, and all those whose income is not adequate to provide a decent standard of living.

Speaking of the present rates of pension for aged persons, MacInnis said "people today can no more live on $20 a month than in 1920 they could live on $20 a month."

HE SAID OLD AGE pension should be increased considerably and that a social security scheme which would help all persons in need should be inaugurated by the government.

"We can get the money for it in the same way we get money for old age pensions, we are applying for charity."

The speaker believed the day is coming when "everyone shall give according to his ability and every one shall receive according to his need."

He urged "we should get away from thinking that when we apply for old age pensions, we are applying for charity."

Get High Prices At London Auction

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(CP)—European and American buyers have bought 100,000 pounds ($800,000) worth of furs at three times pre-war prices in the first big London auction since 1940. Some 700,000 skins are to be sold before the sale ends at Hogg & Co.'s Beaver hall here. The auction opened Monday.

Along the side of the neck. The enlargement of the nodes occurs very rapidly and quite often, red-purple lines are visible under the skin. The presence of such lines means that the lymph channels near the surface have become inflamed.

Although recovery from tularemia is the rule, nevertheless the patient may feel greatly distressed both physically and mentally for many weeks afterwards. Therefore, the usual feeling of well-being may not return for some time.

All questions regarding the disease and diet will be answered. Large envelopes, addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of the paper only. Letters must not exceed 100 words. Address: McCoy Health Service, 100 West 8th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Prevention of the disease depends upon warning the occasional hunter upon handling any rabbit which seems to be slow in getting away. The healthy rabbit will do his best to escape, whereas the rabbit sick with tularemia appears to be sluggish and slow. The hunter should be warned to leave the slow rabbit severely alone, even though the amateur may be tempted to handle it, since he is such a poor shot that he is probably the only rabbit he can bring in. The wearing of rubber gloves by those who handle the skins or meat of rabbits for the market will help prevent the spread of the disease.

As a general rule, the disease appears about three days after infection, and the patient has a sharp chill, followed by fever. The muscles of the thighs and back are painful and the head aches. Usually, the primary lesion is located on the hand, occurring either on the thumb or fingers. The neighboring lymph nodes are greatly enlarged. The most enlarged are the ones closest to the primary lesion. In some cases, such as the nodes in the arm.

The ROAD AHEAD

By HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

FOR some time now veterans who have applied for vocational and technical training of various kinds have found themselves faced with delays. These have been caused by an over-all shortage of suitable accommodation for them in schools, the difficulty of obtaining qualified instructors, and a scarcity of the necessary tools and equipment. In some delay the cause was the necessity of waiting until there were enough applicants for a specific type of training to justify the setting up of a class, or a new class.

These delays would not be serious, and it would be improper to criticize Canadian vocational training officials for them, except for the fact that in many cases, while awaiting training, the men were forced to apply for out-of-work benefits—and the time for which they receive these reduced the time for which they were eligible to receive training.

Under the regulations regarding the granting of out-of-work benefits, awaiting-returns benefits and training benefits, a veteran was entitled to a maximum total of 12 months—or not more than his period of service, whichever was less. This meant that if a man received out-of-work benefits for three months he would have been entitled to only nine months training.

Under the original intention of C.V.T. that no man would have to wait for training, but that he should be able to begin his training immediately, but unfortunately, this has not been found practical or possible to adhere to.

In some trade groups, such as watchmaking, it had been hoped that training could be given on the job. But employers, in this particular line, as in some others, have not been found practical or possible to adhere to.

ROAD REPORTS

All roads with a few exceptions in Central and Northern Alberta are reported to be OK. Roads are heavy in spots at Slave Lake, High Prairie and Fort St. John, and just passing at Lac la Poudre.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

To Resume Happiness Depends on Forgiving

While Serviceman Was Overseas His Wife Was Running Around With Sailors and New Wants a Divorce

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a returned serviceman. While I was overseas my wife was running around with sailors, drinking, smoking and having a good time. She wrote me saying that she had fallen in love with a sailor and wanted a divorce so she could marry him. I said she had no fault to find with me, but she said I married too young.

I didn't give her the divorce, but since I am back home we are not living together. She wants to come back to me. We have one child, a five-year-old boy. If we go back to each other, do you think that we will live happily?

C.R.N. ANSWER: This is a question that no one, not even you and your wife, can answer. It all depends on how much each of you has changed in the time you have been parted and with the experience you have gone through. And, most of all, it depends upon whether you can forget your wife's past, as well as forgive it.

IF THE KNOWLEDGE of her lack of loyalty is going to rankle to the back of your mind and you are going to reproach her with it every time you have a difference of opinion, then I think you had better give her a divorce and let her go her way in peace. But if you have the strength to wipe the slate clean and make a fresh start in marriage, then it is worth while at least try the experiment of living together again and establishing a home for your child's sake.

Your wife's excuse for her conduct—that she married too young—is a valid one. She hadn't had too much of life. She looks on her responsibilities before she was ready for them. She wants to have fun and dance and go with a gay crowd of her own age, and yet she has to be a mother and left her and she was too young to have the temerity to get drunk and make merry and philander was more than she could resist.

PERHAPS SHE HAS had her lesson now and has found out that the wrong path has plenty of thorns in it, and she will make you a better wife because of her experience.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 27 and my wife is 19 and we have been married for three years. I love her very much, but she will not wash and iron my clothes. She does nothing but sit around and read and smoke cigarettes. Every time I have an argument of any kind she runs home to her mother. She is very expensive for me as her mother lives nearly a thousand miles away from my home. We are living with my parents while waiting to get an apartment.

I do not know any advice about how to deal with my wife.

A MIXED-UP HUSBAND. ANSWER: I would say that the best way to deal with a wife who is like yours is to let her be. Let her smoke and read and do as she pleases. She is a young woman and she will grow up. She is a young woman and she will grow up. She is a young woman and she will grow up.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERED

AS THE BABY heads into his first birthday there must be some changes made in the number of meals and the number of naps each day.

Just as the baby grows indifferent to four meals a day, so he loses the capacity to sleep both morning and afternoon. When that time arrives he will be able to sleep for a period similar to the following:

Baby will awaken about 6:30 to 7:00 a.m. He will be unable to sleep until 10:00 a.m. or later. If he awakens much earlier than this a cranky mood will keep him occupied until it is time to serve breakfast.

After breakfast he will be able to sleep until 1:00 p.m. or later. If he awakens much earlier than this a cranky mood will keep him occupied until it is time to serve breakfast.

Even if he is on three meals a day, he will be unable to sleep until 10:00 a.m. or later. If he awakens much earlier than this a cranky mood will keep him occupied until it is time to serve breakfast.

It's no easy to get yourself interested in something you're reading, as Actress Joan Winfield is doing, and forget to go to bed, put off taking exercises and in general neglect your health. Those important health routines should not be neglected.

WHAT ONE CHARACTERISTIC, more than any other, causes us to grow old before our time, leads to wrinkles and overwear and fatigue. What keeps us from accomplishing the things we most want to accomplish, or doing the things we most want to do or getting on from life what we crave most?

It is only natural to put off until tomorrow what we do today. It is so easy to build dreams about what we will do and then delay the painful process of making a goal. Everyone with good sense knows that we must give up some average, regular care, if we are to remain vital into old years. Most women know that regular skin brushing is essential if we are to avoid wrinkles and that daily lubrication of the hair brings happy dividends.

We all know we will have circles if we lose sleep, that our tissues will become flabby unless we exercise and eat properly.
